HARDLY ALIVE (ALBUM)

ZITA

Another engine powering the resurgence of true rock and roll, Zita is an invigorating, classic sounding 4-piece rock & roll band with a ubiquitous New Orleans flare. As lead guitarist Bradford Lewis puts it: "Zita is best categorized as classic rock & roll of a decade between the 70s & 80s, informed by New Orleans blues and funk." The group is equipped with a thumping pocket-based rhythm section, a riff-ripping, awe-inspiring blues marksman guitarist, and a frontman with a 4-octave vocal range and conservatory jazz training on the trombone (performed through an amplifier for effect). This gives the band it's New Orleans flare, on top of a hypnotizing rock & roll sound-scape.

BIO

In 2022, Zita won "Best Rock Album" for their debut work, headlined venues spanning the southeast (Nola's "Tipitina's", Houston's "Continental Club"), and were selected for 5 top festivals in New Orleans. Independent radio program directors and press outlets have also taken kindly to the group's 9-track LP in cities across the US. Those outlet's include The New Orleans Advocate, WWOZ, and ESPN's Tony Kornheiser who proclaimed "God, I miss this kind of music" upon hearing Zita's "The Picture."

Zita's music is bred in front of live audiences, and is consumed in its purest form in this setting, beckoning any audience to groove until the very last note. All four members were raised in this live music heritage, playing and seeing music as young as 5 years old. The teachings of their youths come forth as they take the stage— its everything you desire from a rock & roll show. If not for virtuosity, you'd be taken aback by stage presence. If not for stage presence, you'd be wowed by style & presentation. And if for none of these things, the crowd at a Zita concert will remind you the power of music — knowing just as much of Zita's music as you, but singing every word.
